The Fine Art of Beautiful, Healthy Smiles!

Facts About Dental Insurance:

Did you know?

- Some dental benefits are changing rapidly with many reductions in coverage
- Dental insurance is a contract between yourself, the insurance company and your employer. Not the dentist
- Dental insurance companies do not inform dental offices of changes to your policy.
- Dental benefits may not cover 100% of your dentistry.
- Our fees are based on our clinical expertise, the quality of care and materials provided.
- If you have any questions regarding your coverage, we recommend that you call your insurance company.
- We are happy to offer our patients a pre-estimate of treatment fees, which can be sent to your insurance company for confirmation of your coverage. This will enable you to plan your finances before commencing the treatment. We are happy to discuss fees and payment options with you.
- You need to be aware that insurance companies will sometimes send back approvals with a request for cheaper, alternative treatment plans. Our office is happy to discuss any alternatives and choices with you prior to treatment.
- Some employers are offering their employees dental coverage, which is minimal and restricts your choice of dentist and treatments.
